Divide and Conquer!

Animals, like people, enjoy spending time with their friends and family. Many groups of animals have their own unique names. Did you know group of gorillas is called a band? And a bunch of billy goats is a tribe? Following in the footsteps of Multiply on the Fly (multiplication), What's the Difference? (subtraction), and What's New at the Zoo? (addition), this rhythmic, fun-to-read-aloud book introduces children to division as they conquer bands, tribes, mobs and more. (Ages 4-9)

For Creative Minds

Teachers and parents will love the educational section, which includes the following activities:

- Collective Nouns Matching
- Penguins of the World Map
- Division: Opposite of Multiplication
- Hands On: Dividing Cookies

Sylvan Dell Publishing

Plus, 60-70 pages of cross-curricular Teaching Activities and three Interactive Reading Comprehension and Math Quizzes on The Great Divide's homepage (www.SylvanDellPublishing.com) to help parents and educators create more educational opportunities.

About the Author & Illustrator

Suzanne Slade is the author of over 80 books for children. Her works include picture books, biographies, as well as many non-fiction titles about animals, sports, insects, planets, and various science topics. One of her favorite parts of the writing process is researching and learning about new topics. Ms. Slade lives near Chicago with her husband Mike, two children, and their tiny purse-sized dog Corduroy. She visits dozens of schools each year via Skype. You can find more details on Suzanne's website at www.SuzanneSlade.com.

Erin Hunter specializes in entomological and botanical illustration. She received a B.A. in graphic design with a minor in Spanish at California State University, Chico, and went on to take classes at the Art Students' League and complete the Science Illustration program at the University of California, Santa Cruz. In addition to illustrating books for young students, she has taught botanical illustration and field sketching at UC Santa Cruz. Erin lives with her husband on California's Monterey Peninsula. When she's not sketching and painting, she tends to flowers, fruit trees and vegetables in her backyard garden. Visit her website at www.eehunter.com.
