

The Great Divide

2012 New Release from
Sylvan Dell Publishing

Written by Suzanne Slade

Divide and Conquer!

Animals, like people, enjoy spending time with their friends and family. Many groups of animals have their own unique names. Did you know a group of gorillas is called a band? And a bunch of billy goats is a tribe? Following in the footsteps of Multiply on the Fly (multiplication), What's the Difference? (subtraction), and What's New at the Zoo? (addition), this rhythmic, fun-to-read-aloud book introduces children to division as they conquer bands, tribes, mobs, and more. (Ages 4-9)

Suzanne Slade is the author of over 80 books for children. Her works include picture books, biographies, as well as many non-fiction titles about animals, sports, insects, planets, and various science topics. One of her favorite parts of the writing process is researching and learning about new topics. Ms. Slade lives near Chicago with her husband Mike, two children, and their tiny purse-sized dog Corduroy. She visits dozens of schools each year via Skype. You can find more details on Suzanne's website at www.SuzanneSlade.com.

Erin Hunter specializes in entomological and botanical illustration. She received a B.A. in graphic design at the California State University, Chico, and went on to take classes at the Art Students' League and complete the Science Illustration program at the University of California, Santa Cruz. In addition to illustrating books for young students, she has taught botanical illustration and field sketching at UC Santa Cruz. When not sketching or painting she tends to flowers, fruit trees, and vegetables in her back garden. Visit her website at www.eehunter.com.
