"I have a special place in my heart and mind for wolves," says Scotti. "Years of reading, watching television and film specials about wolves, listening to recordings of wolves, and visits to wolf sanctuaries all provided incentive for me to write One Wolf Howls. My purpose is to share my fascination with these magnificent creatures and to encourage children to develop understanding and concern for the plight of wolves in the wild." Scotti Cohn is the author of five nonfiction books, and her short stories have appeared in numerous magazines for young people. Cohn lives in central Illinois and is a member of the Society of Children's Book Writers and Illustrators. For more information about Scotti Cohn, visit her website at <http://www.scotticohn.com/>.

Cohn's poetry describes the woodland scenery and behavior of wolves as they dance, trot, hunt, and nap in their natural habitat.
